“ I was lucky enough to meet Lee in the early 90s and considered him a good friend ever since..He was an honest, positive soul who I'll miss very much. Friends like him don't come around often and now that he's gone I'm realizing that even more. Visiting him up in Navarre Coulee was always fun, just knowing he was up there was a comfort that seems I took for granted. Wish he was there now..God Bless Donald Lee Price..

“ Sad to here of Lee's passing, I have known him since the mid-70's. We always had fun together and Lee was one of the happiest positive people that I have known. I haven't seen him for several years but no doubt it would of been full of laughs and merriment. I guess I will just have to see him down the road with all the other friends that have gone on... I will see you again my friend.

“ I met Lee back in the early '70's, 1972 I think, in San Pedro, California. He was running around with Eric Thurston. Me and Mark Acosta, Lee and Eric had some lively times. We ran around together in Chelan/Manson and stirred up some adventure as well. I recall Lee to be a goofy, loveable guy. Large as life. They say a person dies twice. Once when the spirit leaves the body, and the second time when the last person who knew him speaks his name and recalls his memory to mind for the last time. Lee Price..... Lest we forget.
