“ Nothing is more painful in life as the separation of a gem. I remember Ed as kind in nature guy who truly cared for people and everything round him. He was a great person to work with. May the soul of Ed dearly departed rest in peace on his journey to Heaven above.

May the passage of time heal your grief and May you feel comforted by the love, memories shared and support of family and friends in the days ahead. My sincere condolences.

“ Over the years, before, during, and after the twists and turns Ed confronted in his life, Ed and I discussed a gamut of subjects. Including but limited to: engineering, dams, life, death, war, peace, cars, politics, religion, God, the Bible, family, people, and animals. What was obvious during these discussions was his humble attitude and his concern for people and animals who needed help - Ed assisted them. I can not but think, that in the final analysis, the Almighty will smile when he looks in Ed's direction. May Ed, Rest In Pease, until that day.
