“ My man! Well it's been a good one my brother. I met Tao in our first days at UW. He quickly became one of my very good friends, he became a brother to me. He was part of my support system throughout school. He was brilliant, always motivating, and cool as hell. We spent almost everyday together doing things college guys do. It was some of the best times of my life and i will cherish them forever. I'm a better person because of him. We grew into men together. Thank you my brother. I will miss our short conversations, our gaming binges until 5am in the morning, and the text messages we would send each other randomly when we were missing each other. You were one of my doods! I will honor your memory by never forgetting your beautiful soul and sharing your memories with the ones I love. I will miss you so much. Just as we would end every conversation I love you brother! Until we meet again my man! My life is better because of you!
